The 2018 Rallye d'Algérie wears pink

The 2nd edition of the Rallye d'Algérie will take place from March 25th to 31st, 2018.

Under the organization by Arak Sport, the 2018 edition will boast a category open to women-only crews: The Rallye en rose.

Interest by women in the automotive world is in constant growth, and a growing number of women take part in races and competitions. The female presence has brought significant excitement to the motorsports world, as always occurs in all fields when people of a different gender, race, or color share the same passions and find themselves living, cooperating, and overcoming difficulties together to reach shared goals.

The organization will offer a free registration for individual women taking part onboard motorcycles or quads, and all crews racing in cars, SSVs, or trucks.

For this edition, the Rally's official ranking will be accompanied by the special ranking of women crews, with awards and trophies dedicated to the female winners.

News, rankings, photographs, and videos will be available in the Rallye en Rose section of the official website algerally.com.
